ACCELERATING RESULTS THROUGH SELF-LEADERSHIP

A Keynote Presentation with Optional follow up Workshops

Many organizations are struggling to develop leadership competencies that are relevant for a post-pandemic, and digital world. Facing a great resignation and with the constant need to deliver on objectives, while struggling with their own stress and fatigue, managers and leaders need a new playbook.

'The New Leadership Playbook: Being Human Whilst Successfully Delivering Accelerated Results', by Andrew Bryant, was written to address today's leadership challenges and to reduce the costs that come from a lack of effective leadership.

Andrew Bryant, CSP is a globally recognized expert on self-leadership with over 130 research papers and Ph.D. dissertations referencing his 2012 work, 'Self Leadership: How to become a more Successful, Efficient and Effective Leader from the Inside Out.'

With nearly 25 years' experience working with some of the world's top companies and leaders, Andrew has the stories, insights, and practical tools to empower and inspire leaders of any level to drive accelerated results.

Andrew is an experienced and engaging speaker who can tailor his keynotes for any audience, in terms of seniority, industry or culture. Full bio, videos, and testimonials are on his website.

What will the audience learn?

- ◆ Self-leadership means accepting responsibility for your results. You don't blame other people and you don't make excuses. This can be challenging during times of uncertainty; however, a self-leader sees options and grasps opportunities when others are waiting to be rescued.
- ◆ We are born into a frame of mind that is reinforced by our early experiences, and education. Unless we become aware of these frames of mind, and take ownership, we will be destined to firefighting one issue after another until we are exhausted.
- ◆ You can't lead others unless you first lead yourself. As you increase your self-awareness, and embrace self-learning, and self-regulation you will get results.
- ◆ There is a formula, and that formula is that Clear Expectations X Mindset & Motivation X Right Behaviors = Accelerated Results.
