

ANTHONY P WINNING

Approachable, thought-provoking, and engaging. Guaranteed to leave a lasting impression on any audience.

Anthony has dedicated himself to exploring life and the human condition. His talks seek to illuminate the fundamental questions in life, and clearly explain the implications for how we choose to answer such questions. This brings the possibility to live a richer life more aligned with what a person deeply wishes.

SPEAKING TOPICS

Understanding the Human Condition Through the Stories of Genesis

The stories of Genesis in the Bible can offer a profound understanding about ourselves and our fellow human beings. Both atheists and theists can draw insight from such an analysis, as it makes no recourse to religious ideas.

The Misunderstood Relationship Between Religion and Science

A commonly held assertion is that religion and science are in conflict. However, a deeper analysis can offer a richer and more nuanced perspective, with the realisation that atheism is as much an act of faith as theism.

The Challenge of Religion in Defining the Indefinable

Arguably the greatest challenge faced by religions is seeking to bridge between the reality of human beings and something transcendent. Yet the transcendent by its very definition reaches beyond human comprehension. This means that by its very nature, religion is primed to be misunderstood.

Why the Question of God Is Inescapable for Atheists, Agnostics, and Theists Alike

Religion is often seen as an aspect of a person's life, something that one can separate and compartmentalise. Yet this fails to recognise that the question of whether there is some greater order to existence is of such profound importance that it reaches into every aspect of our lives, theist or atheist.
