

STEPHEN BORENGASSER

Stephen is a corporate leader, TEDx speaker, and founder of Tech Leaders Unlocked with a mission: To humanize leadership in technology for lasting prosperity.

His rich corporate leadership career spans over 2 decades, 3 continents, and 14 countries. Stephen speaks on the power of people-first leadership as the best way to lead the next generation of employees, organizations, and communities. Stephen is a dad of two adult Gen Z technologists who refer to him as "big man." He lives outside Atlanta.

CORPORATE AND CONFERENCE TOPICS

When Empathy Feels Wrong: Confronting Toxic Leadership Choices

Do you want to create healthy workplaces and successful organizations? Empathy achieves both. In this session based on his TEDx talk, Stephen shows leaders how to end workplace trauma and help people and organizations thrive.

Ignore the Doubters: Why Technologists Make Great Business Leaders

Have you heard that technologists make bad leaders? It's a lie. In this empowering and thought-provoking talk, Stephen shows you how technologists break the mold of traditional leadership and stand out as brilliant leaders.

Listen to Gen Z Technologists or Stop Trying to Lead Them

Are you frustrated with needy Gen Z technologists that you lead? You might be the problem. In this blunt but amusing talk, Stephen shows you why their needs are not only fair—but they're also exactly what technology industries need.

A Call to Gen Z: Be The Tech Leaders You're Asking For

Are you frustrated with technology leaders who don't listen? Show them how it's done. In this motivating but practical talk, Stephen helps the next generation of leaders debunk leadership myths and create their own mold.

Watch Stephen's intro video

TechLeadersUnlocked.com