

STEPHEN BORENGASSER

Stephen is an engineer-turned-executive and TEDx speaker (coming May 4, 2024) with a mission: To transform leadership in technology-driven organizations by empowering the next generation of leaders to choose a more people-focused path.

His rich corporate leadership career spans over 2 decades, 3 continents, and 14 countries. Stephen speaks on the power servant leadership as the best way to lead the next generation of employees, organizations, and communities. Stephen is a dad of two adult Gen Z technologists who lives outside Atlanta.

CORPORATE AND CONFERENCE TOPICS

When Empathy Feels Wrong to Leaders

Why do so many leaders make decisions that choose profit over people? Stephen shows leaders how to overcome traditional training that conditions us to put people last all too often.

Ignore the Doubters: Why Technologists Make Great Business Leaders

Have you heard that technologists make bad leaders? It's a lie. Stephen shows technologists how to break the mold of traditional leadership and stand out as brilliant leaders.

Listen to Gen Z Technologists or Stop Trying to Lead Them

Are you frustrated with needy Gen Z technologists that you lead? You might be the problem. Stephen helps leaders decode the leadership language of Gen Z and build trust and loyalty with them.

A Call to Gen Z: Be The Tech Leaders You're Asking For

Are you frustrated with technology leaders who don't listen? Show them how it's done. Stephen helps the next generation of leaders debunk leadership myths and create their own mold.

Watch Stephen's intro video

TechLeadersUnlocked.com