Bio

Cherlyn chased all the world said she should have - title, money, influence - but her law degree, corporate job and leadership position did not bring the happiness and identity she desired.

She found herself people pleasing, spiritually empty, emotionally drained, and sleepless. She had mommy guilt, misguided purpose and false confidence. Then, when it seemed circumstances were changing she got laid-off.

Yet God was there wooing her into the wilderness for transformation. The process, pruning and surrender was painful, but He showed her kingdom perspectives on how to have rest and peace in chaotic circumstances.

Cherlyn has spent 15+ years in positions ranging from consultant to leadership. She is a speaker and writer inspiring Christians with her story. And as mentor, coach and spiritual director she provides retreats, group seminars and one-on-one guidance.
