Speaking Topics

Intersectionality

Intersectionality is significant when researching data related to minority women business owners attempting to do business on a local, federal, or state level. Furthermore, it may shed light on issues that are prevalent in the community as well as the business industry, that leaders may be able to learn from and change.

Capacity Building

What can you do to win those big contracts as a small business owner? What does it mean to reach capacity? What can you do to make sure you have a seat at the table for growth? This and more gets discussed and reinvented,

Developing Your Genius

How do you pivot and succeed as a business owner or leader? What niche separates you from others? How do you develop your genius? What about Impostor Syndrome, why do so many women have this and how can we evolve?
