About Us

Alliance Seminars Coaching is a veteran-owned, faith-based organization that provides clients with coaching services, motivational speaking, and certified workshops.

Our mission is to support clients by sharing strategies and skills that strengthen personal and professional relationships. We also collaborate with individuals and teams to improve leadership skills, which increase individual quality of life and organizational culture.

We have inspired individuals, couples, and organizations throughout the Washington DC Metropolitan area and we look forward to bringing our personal touch to you or your next event.

About Me

Veronica Williams brings her extensive experience as a master certified life coach, keynote speaker, and certified facilitator by providing clients with expertise in the areas of relationships, empowerment, and purpose.

She has been involved in life coaching for many years and her experience has influenced women and strengthened couples throughout the Washington D.C. Metropolitan Area. She is a licensed minister and has been a part of community leadership and relationship building the greater part of her life.

She utilizes her gifts, talents, and knowledge to encourage individuals wherever they are in their journey. She also coaches military wives, as the spouse of a veteran, helping women maneuver through the challenges that come with a military lifestyle.

She has learned from National Marriage Conferences such as "I Still Do" and is certified to facilitate Family Life seminars, "The Art of Marriage," "The Art of Parenting," as well as the "5 Languages of Appreciation at Work." Veronica is also a Board Member for Wilcome Human Services, Inc., where she serves as the Chief Community Officer.
