Orienne Collins is a jewelry designer, entrepreneur, philanthropist, author, keynote speaker and mother of three boys, two with music legend Phil Collins.

Collins is a strong woman who supports women empowerment and would love to share her story with the intention of helping women around the world meet their goals and become unstoppable at whatever they choose to do. Orianne turned her tragedy into a passion and then into a purpose when she created the Never Give Up Foundation, after her own experience through traumatic spinal injury, paralysis and the long path to recovery.

Orienne uses her life-changing paralysis as a parallel to the figurative paralysis someone may experience in their professional or personal lives and shares how she fought literally by baby steps to reach her goal of walking again and then eventually climbed Switzerland’s Breithorn mountain range, peaking at 13,661 feet.

BIOGRAPHY

Orianne Collins is a successful entrepreneur, professional speaker, jewelry designer, philanthropist and mother of three boys, two with music legend Phil Collins. Born and raised in Nyon, Switzerland, she obtained her master's degree in International Management and started her career as the marketing and communication manager for a capital venture company before opening her own events and communications company, O-Com SA, in 1994.

Following her passion, she founded OC Jewellery in 2007, creating unique, hand-crafted pieces made in Switzerland, U.S. and Italy influenced by her heritage and travels around the world, studying various cultures and craftsmanship techniques.

As a 3rd Dan black belt in mixed martial arts, she was participating in a martial arts exhibition in Paris against Jesse Glover, Bruce Lee's first student in 2014, when she suffered a neck injury. After a seemingly straightforward operation, she woke up paralyzed from the neck down due to a medical error. She was told by her doctors she would never walk or design again, but not allowing this to be her fate, she fought to regain her ability day-by-day and step-by step. Only three years later, against all odds, she climbed one of the highest mountain ranges in Switzerland, the Breithorn, peaking at 13,661 feet.

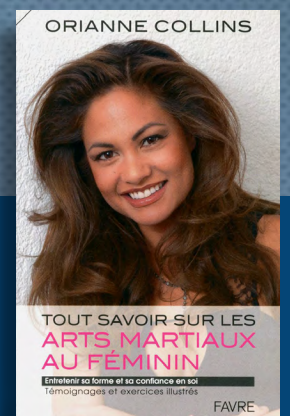

After her long path to recovery, Collins founded the Never Give Up Foundation in 2019 so others with spinal cord injuries could receive the care and support they need through their early days of life-changing treatments. She also co-founded the Little Dreams Foundation in 2000 with a mission to fulfill the dreams of young talented kids with limited financial means in the worlds of music, sports and art. Since its launch, the Little Dreams Foundation has reached more than 200 young aspiring individuals across the world and 40 in Miami alone.

Collins has received international recognition for her philanthropic work including the Global Gift Philanthropist Award at the VII Global Gift Gala in Paris in 2017. She's also been recognized with several awards and accomplishments including being an honoree for The SFBW (South Florida Business & Wealth) Apogee Awards honoring C-Suite executives in Miami-Dade, Broward and Palm Beach counties. She has been featured as a trailblazing female entrepreneur and philanthropist in Databird Business Journal, 201 Magazine, Billion Success and Enterprise League among several other media outlets. Collins wrote and published a book, "Les Arts Martiaux Aux Féminin," where she shares how the discipline of martial arts can build a healthy, strong body and mind.

After the obstacles that Collins overcome, she made it her purpose in life to encourage women through her professional speaking and writing to "Never Give Up," no matter what happens in life. She wants to show women if they push themselves everyday, they can achieve whatever it is that they desire and they can do it looking and feeling beautiful.

Today, OC Jewellery spans 16 collections ranging from luxury pieces to affordable staples, including men's and children's lines. She has expanded into OC Home and OC Spa collections, with plans to launch OC Cosmetics in 2021. The lines are available online at oriannecollins.com, her flagship store OC Jewellery & Spa in Miami's renowned Design District and select luxury boutiques.
