About Pamela

Pamela King is a transformational leader, speaker, and strategist that inspires courageous leaders to embrace bold steps to success by teaching them how to align their vision, voice, and values with their authentic style of leadership.

Pamela is the CEO & Principal Consultant of HERisezon Leadership Consulting. She uses her in depth experience as a transformational leader and strategic planner to equip leaders with the skills they need to create an organizational culture where people can thrive. Her uncommon career and life experiences give her unique insights into the critical elements and essential characteristics that lead to success.

During her 20-year Air Force career, she was hand selected to lead as a Professional Military Education Instructor, Master Resilience Trainer, and Victim Advocate. She's equipped leaders worldwide through leadership development, individual resilience, victim advocacy, and survivor support. As a nonprofit leader, Pamela served as the regional director of a national nonprofit, teaching community and business leaders how to listen with empathy and lead with compassion.

Personally, you should know that Pamela is also a breast cancer survivor and knows firsthand the challenges that life can throw your way. She believes we can overcome those challenges and achieve great things, together.

For nearly 30 years, Pamela has demonstrated her commitment to helping others build the resilience they need to overcome obstacles, reach their potential, and achieve their goals. She was honored with the AFMC NAACP Roy Wilkins Renown Service Award.

Pamela King is a Certified Personal and Executive Coach with a Master's in Education, Bachelor's in Management/Human Resources and graduate certificate in Online Teaching and Learning. She is also a licensed Extended DISC coach & facilitator.

I define leadership as the selfless actions people take when they use their strengths, truths, experiences, and position of influence to improve the lives of others regardless of position, or title. I call these people, leaders, and I am compelled to act, serve, and lead beside them.
