FAILURE & LEADERSHIP

what if failure was the pinnacle of successful leadership?

CONQUERING IMPOSTER SYNDROME

getting out of your head and getting you out of your own way.

We've failed thousands of times in our lives.

Dan is here to flip the script on failure to see it as the best possible experience for leaders and organizations, while addressing the feeling of imposter syndrome so many of us face on a regular basis.

Dan Faill (yes that's his actual last name) is ready to engage audiences through stories, humor and vulnerability to show you that the best way to learn, is to connect on a more human level.

Let's make the difficult conversations more relatable so you leave with tangible takeaways, inspired, and with a smile on your face.

Dan carries a persona that exudes 'authenticity' in the way he delivers his message. He resonates with our members and is able to challenge them in ways that initiate open dialogue.

Dan has an amazing ability to connect and engage others while still leaving them wanting more.
