

Tim Hays | Head women's basketball coach | Superior, CO

Residing in Superior, Colorado, Tim Hays embodies the essence of motivation, leadership, and patience. Over the past two decades, his dedication extends beyond the basketball court, impacting athletes' personal growth and character development. He is not just a coach but a trusted friend, guiding leader, and mentor. He stands as a figure who appreciates that sports are about more than victories - they're about nurturing character and overall development.

Shaping Destinies On the Court: A Career of Distinction

His path in basketball underscores the value of patience, often yielding fruitful outcomes. Beginning his coaching career in 2003 at a high school in Meridian, Idaho, he has since diligently worked to instill resilience and discipline in his players, guiding them to numerous triumphs. His versatile leadership took him across various locations, including Australia, Colorado, and Southeastern University (FL). There, his team achieved an extraordinary record of 106 consecutive conference wins and six consecutive conference titles, showcasing his skills in motivation and team culture.

Tim Hays

His coaching odyssey kick-started as a High School coach in Meridian, Idaho, in 2003. From then on, he toiled tirelessly, ingraining qualities of toughness and discipline into his players and leading them to numerous victories.

During his tenure as a professional coach in Australia, he' contributions were acknowledged with a Coach of the Year award from Basketball Australia, cementing his status as a top-tier international coach. At the University of Colorado, he was pivotal in developing a culture of excellence and diversity, contributing to the team's first Sweet 16 appearance in two decades. His consistent effort in player development has led to 52 players being named All-Conference and 17 signing professional contracts, a testament to his knack for unlocking player potential.

A Confluence of Professional and Personal Success

His journey has been shared with his wife, Crista, a former professional basketball player. After coaching with him for five years, Crista pursued a career in medicine and became an orthopedic PA. The couple loves travel and horses and dreams of owning a hobby farm.

In a profound act of family commitment, he paused his Division 1 coaching career in August 2023 to care for two terminally ill family members. The upcoming 22nd wedding anniversary with Crista on June 1, 2024, symbolizes their enduring love and resilience.

Investing in the Future: A Passion for Real Estate

Away from the basketball court, he has ventured into real estate investment. His initial project involved transforming an old carriage house in Florida into two Airbnb rentals. He has since expanded his portfolio, including several Airbnb properties, and is considering investments in multi-family housing. This endeavor reflects his competitive spirit and strategic thinking.

Making a Difference: Commitments Beyond the Court

His commitment to charity is a significant aspect of his life. For over 20 years, he has actively participated in serving homeless shelters and schools, making impactful contributions to local communities. His philanthropic efforts extend globally, as he has led service trips abroad, supporting orphans and impoverished communities in various countries.

Grounded in Virtue

Tim Hays's life and career are defined by more than his basketball achievements. They exemplify determination, support, and resilience. Whether coaching, supporting his family, engaging in real estate, or aiding communities, his actions are driven by patience and unwavering support. He is more than a basketball coach; he is an excellent architect.
