

LEADERSHIP 2.0

LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT & FACILITATION TRAINING

Why go on this journey with us?

Today, leadership needs to be more about helping groups engage and align than it is about command and control. It's about facilitating collaboration and change in volatile, uncertain, complex, and ambiguous (VUCA) environments.

A top-down, non-participatory process is no longer enough to retain high quality employees and build a culture of excellent work. Leaders and teams must unlearn the outdated practices that are proving inefficient and learn new ones, strengthening the social-emotional skills that are needed.

Our magic

UFacilitate will help your leaders grow into facilitators of inclusive processes for achieving organizational goals. They will be able to create the conditions for their teams to collaborate and spark creativity, as well as align them toward joyful, powerful action, tasting the possibility of a new future.

“ For anyone that needs an organizational culture strengthener, or is looking to help their team connect with their stakeholders, this facilitation training served as a great starting point. It has helped me reimagine what I think it's possible for meetings! As a leader, I can already see how our team is using the tools and techniques, how it clarified my own vision for what I think is possible, and how it will make our onboarding more effective.

WHAT PEOPLE SAY ABOUT OUR WORK

“ The UFacilitate team took a lot of time and care to thoughtfully understand our team's culture, our specific challenges, and what would be most effective for the way we work. The result was a series of trainings where the team was able to learn, practice, and immediately take tactics forward to improve the way we facilitate our meetings internally and externally and to give us all a shared language to talk through our practices as we continue to grow. The UFacilitate leaders felt like an extension of our own team, and we highly recommend them to other organizations, as they can immediately add value, build new practices, and strengthen the skillsets of your team.

“ I really appreciate the very practical approach of this training, and I definitely feel like I can use what I learned in my work. I feel like other trainings I've done on facilitation purported to be very practical but I did not personally find them practical. Coming to this training and seeing how you put a facilitation plan together, and how you think about it, the arc of the whole thing, all of the different resources, it's just tremendous.
