

zero negative

Stage 4 breast cancer survivor, Jennifer Greenhut, decided to turn a negative into a positive, believing cancer was her 'wake-up call', and put her on a path of promoting LOVE and POSITIVITY while raising money for cancer research... seven months after her triple negative cancer diagnosis, Zero Negative was born, and today, some companies are calling it 'The IT bag of the season!'

As seen on EXTRA,
with Mario Lopez

Paula Abdul

Brooke Burke

Carried by Brooklyn Decker
and featured on Grace and Frankie, Season 5

And the newest part of Zero Negative's Collection, for all ages, promoting awareness for kids, AND giving back to pediatric cancer research.

Zero Negative donates a portion of all proceeds to the Jonsson Cancer Center Foundation, so this bag is not only a perfect fashion statement, but has a purpose of promoting Love and Positivity while helping to find a cure.

From tote bags, to clutches/makeup bags/pencil cases, to cross body/fanny packs, "it's all about 'spreading love' where ever I go!"

Jenn Greenhut

www.ShopZeroNegative.com
'Fighting cancer in style, one bag at a time...'